

Business Valuation

How much is your business worth?

Shavell & Company can provide your company with a business valuation that you may need for federal estate or trust purposes or for contractual purposes like a business sale (or acquisition).

Our Business Valuation services can help you be prepared.

- Are you transferring company shares into a trust?
- Do you need to estimate the value of a partner's interest?
- Are you splitting up the company among shareholders?
- Will you be gifting 'a piece' of the company and need the value for gift tax purposes?
- Do you need the value for a death tax return?
- Are you looking at a buy-in or split during a merger or acquisition?
- Are you selling your business?
- Are you buying a business?

Shavell & Company can help determine the value of your company's shares, which in turn helps you make smart business decisions. We use objective measures and evaluate all aspects of your business to determine its fair market value.

We produce business valuations for all types of businesses to position them for optimum benefits. We also recommend that you have a Business Valuation completed, sometimes annually, to be ready for new opportunities or in case of sudden changes in your company's circumstances.

Our comprehensive Business Valuation services are essential for:

- Estate planning and estate tax compliance
- Gift tax reporting
- Mergers or acquisitions
- Asset transfers to trusts and family limited partnerships
- Bank loans and financing

Our experienced team provides Business Valuation for closely-held companies so you can make strategic decisions with confidence. Contact us today.
